

Philosophy Throughout its History

April 7–8, 2022

University of Notre Dame

How did philosophers at different historical times and places conceptualize the project of “philosophy,” its triumphs, and its risks?

Speakers

Christopher Celenza, Johns Hopkins University

Michael Chase, Centre Jean Pépin / CNRS

Therese Cory, University of Notre Dame

Paul Franks, Yale University

Rachana Kamtekar, Cornell University

André Laks, Universidad Panamericana / Université Paris-Sorbonne

Jonathan Lear, University of Chicago

John Marenbon, University of Cambridge

Steven Nadler, University of Wisconsin-Madison

Stephen Ogden, University of Notre Dame

Register at:

historyofphilosophy.nd.edu/colloquium

History of Philosophy Forum
Institute for Scholarship in the Liberal Arts,
Henkels Lecture Series
Workshop on Ancient Philosophy